New Introduction Workshop for Adelaide March 2017

Due to demand a new Introduction to the Social Psychology of Risk Workshop has been scheduled for 15,16,17 March 2017. This is the first time we have run a unit of study in the Social Psychology of Risk in the 'City of Churches' and we look forward to helping those who have shown such a strong interest in South Australia. For those who indicated a wish for another venue other than the workshop in Sydney on 8,9,10 February 2017. The picture on the left is an example of the practical tools and materials participants receive who attend a workshop.

Introduction Workshop in Sydney Filling Fast

For those wishing to register for the Introduction to The Social Psychology of Risk Workshop on 8, 9, 10 February 2017 there are limits on numbers according to the venue size.

The Wayside venue has been chosen for many reasons but especially a unique opportunity to experience the work and challenges of risk in humanitarian work on the streets of Sydney. Some of the proceeds of the unit form a donation to the Wayside's work. You too can also get your angels wings.

Request for Workshops in New Zealand

We have received a number of requests to run workshops in New Zealand for 2017. If this is of interest to you then register here: admin@cllr.com.au

If we get sufficient demand we will run some workshops back to back in the middle of 2017 so that participants can move into online learning mode following their workshops. A special discount will be offered for the double workshop.

The two workshops proposed would be the Introduction to the Social Psychology of Risk Workshop and the Semiotics Workshop (what is unique about the New Zealand coat of arms?). You can read more about the workshops here: <http://cllr.com.au/events/>
